July 28, 2020

- Harsco Environmental appears on list for first time, ranking #27 on Engineering News-Record's (ENR) annual Top 200 Environmental Firms list
- Clean Earth makes list for 10th consecutive year, ranking #48 for 2020

CAMP HILL, Pa., July 28, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Harsco Corporation (NYSE: HSC), a global, market leading provider of environmental solutions for industrial and specialty waste streams, today announced that its Harsco Environmental and Clean Earth divisions have been named to the Engineering News-Record (ENR) annual Top 200 Environmental Firms list.

For 2020, Harsco Environmental, a premier provider of material processing and environmental services to the global steel and metals industries, placed #27 on the Top 200 list with more than $650 million in 2019 environmental revenue. ENR's list is also broken down into multiple notable subcategories, where Harsco Environmental ranks #10 in the Top 20 Firms Working in Non-US Locations.

Clean Earth, one of the largest specialty waste processing companies in the U.S., placed #48 on the Top 200 list with nearly $279 million in 2019 environmental revenue, and #16 on the Top 20 Hazardous Waste Firms ranking.

Two years after making a strategic decision to undergo a complete business transformation into a leading global environmental solutions provider, more than 80-percent of Harsco's revenue now comes from environmental services and products, compared to just 60-percent in 2017.

"We are incredibly proud to have two divisions named to this prestigious industry list, which reinforces our strategic decision to transform into a single-thesis environmental solutions company," said Harsco Chairman and CEO Nick Grasberger. "We are confident that addressing the urgent societal needs of providing innovative environmental services for industrial and specialty waste streams is in the best interest of our people, our planet, our customers and our shareholders."
