- Renewal reflects Harsco's effective management and beneficial reuse of materials and support of customer's commitment to sustainability

CAMP HILL, Pa., Nov. 06, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Harsco Corporation (NYSE: HSC), a global market leader providing environmental solutions for industrial and specialty waste streams, announced today that its Environmental division (HE) has successfully renewed a multi-year services contract with Gerdau, a leading producer of long steel products in the Americas and one of the largest suppliers of specialty long steel products in the world. The renewal marks the third consecutive contract extension since 1998, when Harsco began working at Gerdau's Midlothian site.

"Harsco Environmental is dedicated to providing innovative solutions and effective project management for our customers, which is why we're so proud to sign this high-value contract with Gerdau, one of the largest steel companies in the world," said Russ Mitchell, Harsco Environmental Vice President and Chief Operating Officer. "We have a strong relationship with Gerdau, and we are honored to have been chosen to continue to work with them for the years to come."

Under this seven-year contract, Harsco will continue to provide Gerdau's Midlothian site with slag management and scrap processing services, which includes transforming slag into innovative second-use products, overseeing all aspects of optimizing service cost and reducing the environmental impact of leftover material, and more.

"We are very happy with the effort put forth by everyone at Harsco to get this contract done," said Dean Peery, Gerdau Vice President of Operations. "This negotiation was one of the more amicable contracts negotiated, considering the tough challenges we had to overcome. The entire Gerdau team and I thought it was a great project, and we are appreciative of Harsco's support and hard work to make it happen."

The formal renewal began Oct. 1, 2020. To learn more about Harsco's market-leading environmental solutions, visit www.harsco-environmental.com.
