- Harsco Environmental expands its reach to Arizona, servicing Nucor Steel Kingman
- The Company will provide slag and scrap management services

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24, 2024 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Harsco Environmental, a global, market-leading provider of steel mill services and products and a division of Enviri Corporation, today announced that it has signed a 10-year services contract with Nucor Steel Kingman in Arizona, a leading manufacturer of steel and steel products.

"Harsco Environmental is pleased to partner with Nucor Steel Kingman," stated Harsco Environmental Regional President of North America, Joe Burkey. "This contract is a testament to our commitment to safety and sustainability, and we are proud to be a technology partner providing Nucor with economically viable solutions for the treatment and reuse of their production co-products."

Harsco Environmental's contract will start in 2025 and deliver comprehensive services to Nucor Steel Kingman, including slag recovery from the melt shop, slag processing and metal recovery, scrap yard management, and ecoproducts™ sales, including from recovered metallics, and processed slag as an environmentally friendly alternative for natural aggregate and mill scale.
