

Clean Earth Opens New Service Center in Syracuse, New York

October 23, 2025

Strategic expansion enhances service capabilities for retail, healthcare, and education customers while driving operational efficiency.

KING OF PRUSSIA, Pa., Oct. 23, 2025 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Clean Earth, a division of Enviri Corporation (NYSE: NVRI) and a leading provider of environmental and regulated waste management services, today announced the opening of a new service center in Syracuse, New York. The 18,400-square-foot warehouse, featuring 42 dock spaces, strengthens Clean Earth's ability to serve a growing base of retail, healthcare, and educational institutions across the region.

This strategic expansion enhances Clean Earth's lab packing services across its customer base, while also improving routing efficiencies for hazardous and non-hazardous waste transportation. The location will serve as a key logistics hub, connecting customers to Clean Earth's nearby recycling, treatment, and disposal facilities.

"Our investment in Syracuse reflects our commitment to delivering innovative, efficient, and sustainability-focused solutions to our customers," said Jeff Beswick, President of Clean Earth. "By expanding our network and leveraging advanced routing technology, we're able to offer optimized transportation tailored to customer preferences and best value logistics – ultimately driving cost savings, service reliability, and reducing environmental impact."

Earlier this year, Clean Earth introduced a new transportation fleet as part of its broader initiative to enhance network logistics and operations. Combined with its transportation management system and nationwide facility footprint, the company continues to prioritize operational excellence, reducing transit times and improving service delivery to customers.
