Harsco Environmental Recognized in Three Newsweek America’s Greatest Workplaces Awards

July 30, 2026

- Ranked in America's Greatest Workplaces 2026, America's Greatest Workplaces in Professional Services, and America's Greatest Workplaces for Culture, Belonging & Community

LONDON, July 30, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Harsco Environmental, a division of Enviri Corporation (NYSE: NVRI), today announced that it has been recognized across three of Newsweek America's Greatest Workplaces Awards for 2026: America's Greatest Workplaces, America's Greatest Workplaces in Professional Services, and America's Greatest Workplaces for Culture, Belonging & Community. Harsco Environmental earned a 4-star rating in each category.

“This recognition from Newsweek reflects how our culture is grounded in our values of respect, inclusion, and a genuine sense of care for every member of our team,” said Harsco Environmental President Christophe Reitemeier. “Being recognized in three categories demonstrates the consistency of our commitment to creating a workplace where our employees feel valued, supported, and empowered to succeed.”

Each of the three awards applies a rigorous, independent methodology to evaluate employers with more than 1,000 employees, though each focuses on a distinct dimension of workplace excellence:

- America's Greatest Workplaces recognizes the top employers in the US based on employee satisfaction across 10 key workplace dimensions, including culture, compensation, and stability, among others.
- America's Greatest Workplaces in Professional Services applies the same methodology specifically within the professional services industry.
- America's Greatest Workplaces for Culture, Belonging & Community recognizes organizations that foster inclusive workplace environments where these values are central to organizational success.

All three rankings are based on extensive employee feedback, independent research, and third-party data, also incorporating findings from three previous studies conducted between 2022 and 2024.

Together, these awards underscore Harsco Environmental's consistent performance across overall employee experience, industry-specific excellence, and inclusive culture. The ranking highlights how engaged teams often translate into stronger business outcomes through improved productivity, greater profitability, and sales — connecting workplace culture and organizational performance.
